USAG Bamberg Public Affairs

BAMBERG, Germany -- Family and Morale, Welfare and Recreation will have a daylong celebration for community members of Warner Barracks, providing them with a day of recreation to celebrate in a manner similar to home.

More than 2000 community members took part in last year's celebration, said Brad Cline, Community Activities Center and Special Events director has been involved in the planning of the event for the past 17 years.

"This year's celebration is going to be the best this community will have had; there are more activities and entertainment than in the past," Cline said.

The daylong celebration has a full range of activities to appeal to all community members: single Soldiers, children and Families, he said.

Activities will be happening all around post, and the main entertainment will take place at Pendleton Field.

The day's activities start off with the Whispering Pines Golf Course Fourth of July tournament at 8 a.m. and conclude with fireworks at BAMBERG, Germany -- The 1002nd Military Police Battalion (Criminal Investigation Division) has a new leader to guide the Knights of Justice to victory.

Soldiers and community members were in attendance June 24 as Lt. Col. Jason M. Stoddard assumed command of the unit from departing commander Lt. Col. Sonya K. Friday during a change of command ceremony at Summerall Field.

Commander of the 202nd Military Police Group (CID) Col. Dan McElroy presided over the ceremony.

"Jason, I look forward to how you shake and lead this organization," said McElroy. "I know you will be an exceptional leader and a driving force."

Stoddard's most recent assignment was at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., where he served as the executive officer for the Combined Arms Center's chief of staff. During his years of military service Stoddard has also served as operations officer for the 3rd Regiment Royal Military Police, military police planner for the 10th Mountain Division and executive officer for the 91st Military Police Battalion.

"I'm honored to have this opportunity and promise hundred percent effort toward caring for you and this unit and working toward mission success," Stoddard said.

Stoddard thanked Friday for her support and dedication to the unit. He also wished Friday the best of luck with her following assignment with the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command as the deputy of operations in Quantico, Va.

"I'm excited to be part of the CID and 202 MP Group teams," Stoddard said, "And I appreciate the opportunity to command this fine unit."

Fourth of July message from U.S. Army Europe commander

By Lt. Gen. Mark P. Hertling, commander,
U.S. Army Europe

The Fourth of July is one of my favorite holidays.

On this day, we celebrate the birth of our nation by spending time with friends at cookouts, going to parades and watching fireworks. But it's also important to reflect on the significance of this day, when we declared independence and stood up for the dignity and freedom of man.

This is a day for us to relax, but it's also a day to reflect on those brave Americans that helped shape our nation... it's a day for us to reflect on how we can best uphold the same ideals of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness that drove our founding fathers to sign the Declaration of Independence on July 4th, 1776. Benjamin Franklin, one of our most respected founding fathers, jokingly reminded his fellow patriots during the signing of the Declaration of Independence, "We must, indeed, all hang together or most assuredly we shall all hang separately."

He was reminding them that they needed to stick together as a team, fight for what was right and he wanted them to stay safe in the pursuit of their cause.

I'd ask all Soldiers, civilians, and family members to do the same...stick together as members of a team every day, fight for what is right when you have the opportunity and always stay safe...especially on holidays!

It's your duty to keep an eye on one another and take care of those within our Army Family, and it requires personal courage to stand up and be loyal to one another.

Remind each other to: "buckle up" in the car or "grab a cab," plan ahead so you don't find yourself in an unwelcome situation and don't let your ego get the best of you.

Patriots gave their lives in securing the freedoms we enjoy today; don't waste yours unnecessarily.

Sue and I thank you and your Families for all you do in defense of our great nation. You represent the very best the U.S. has to offer.

celebration by providing additional activities and selling patriotic items and food. The groups and organizations volunteer during the day and utilize this as a fundraising opportunity.

This year will see the return of the Ms. and Mr. Fourth of July Pageant, which is open to all community members ages infant to 18 years and an adult women's division. Other entertainment will include DJ Tony, diablo and fire artist Xelo, and The Jeremy Graham Band.

The Jeremy Graham Band, touring with Armed Forces Entertainment, will perform at Pendleton Field at 7 p.m.

"They are a southern rock band that is going to bring the house down," said Jack Austin, FMWR entertainment director. "It is their last show of the tour."

The Jeremy Graham Band's members range in age from age 21 to 75. Three of the members are veterans. The oldest member of the band playing the steel guitar, LM English, was in the Navy in the 1950s, said Paul Hickey, business/tour manager

"On behalf of The Jeremy Graham Band, I would like to say that everyone is very excited about coming to tour in Europe and entertain our troops and their families," Hickey said.

FMWR facilities will follow their normal holiday hours of operation on July 4 with the exception of Freedom Fitness Facility, Community Activity Center and Birchview Lanes Bowling Center, which will be closed in support of the Fourth of July celebration. The post shuttle will run up to 8:30 p.m.

The FFF parking lot will be closed July 4; all vehicles must be removed by 4 p.m. on July 3.

West Point cadet previews Army with local brigade

By 1st Lt. Edward Perrin
16th Sustainment Brigade Public Affairs

BAMBERG, Germany – Making the transition from college student to every day professional can be a stressful adjustment for graduates.

However, making the transition from college student to wartime leader involves challenges that spending your time in the classroom cannot simulate.

For upcoming graduates of West Point and various Reserve Officer Training Corps programs on college campuses around the country, their first challenge as a college graduate is not to find a job, but to inspire Soldiers of varying ages to follow them into harm's way. To assist a newly minted second lieutenant's transition into the regular Army, the Cadet Troop Leader Training Sponsorship Program places future second lieutenants into regular Army units for a few weeks during the cadet's summer break. Divided into three separate phases, the CTLTSP runs consecutively throughout the summer months.

One cadet in the CTLTSP recently spent time here with Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 16th Special Troops Battalion, 16th Sustainment Brigade, 21st Theater Sustainment Command, was Houston native and West Point Cadet, Marcie Nordt.

"The first week we spent in garrison," said Nordt summarizing her experience. "The last two weeks (we) have been in the field doing fun stuff like running convoy operations, learning some medical skills, ranges and whatever random task we've been assigned."

Although Nordt enjoyed the field, she also saw that her future as a platoon leader would involve some strenuous work.

"As a platoon leader the days are very long and they never seem to end. You never know when your duty day is over because you get tasked with lots of random stuff," said Nordt.

Nordt also recognized some of the challenges of being a platoon leader as a great opportunity to grow and learn.

"As a platoon leader, it's an interesting balance between you and your platoon sergeant. [Seeing] how those roles work has been really good and I've learned a lot," added Nordt.

"I'll take pretty much everything with me back to West Point, but the main thing I would say is (learning) what to do and not to do as a leader. I definitely think it has been worthwhile. I've learned a ton and hopefully grown as a potential lieutenant and leader," said Nordt.

Nordt was a member of the first phase of CTLTSP to come to the 16th Sust. Bde, May 24-June 15. In the coming months, more cadets from various programs will spend a few weeks with the other battalions throughout the brigade.

Survey suggests Army improving leader development

ARLINGTON, Va. (Army News Service, June 24) -- The results of a recent survey indicate that Army leaders are seen as effective on a wide range of criteria, but that leadership development has not been receiving the attention that it once did at the unit level.

"Unit leader development appears to be less of a priority," said John Steele at the Center for Army Leadership, Fort Leavenworth, Kan...

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (Army News Service, June 27) -- The Army is immersed in an ambitious Network Integration Evaluation exercise here, designed to simultaneously test programs of record and assess a host of emerging network technologies, Army senior leaders said.

New identifications put info at Exchange on a 'need to know' basis

Judd Anstey, Army, Air Force Exchange Service IDs to facilitate certain financial transactions.

DALLAS -- Social Security numbers are enjoying the top-secret clearance they have always deserved as the Department of Defense has removed the nine digit number from Identification Cards issued after June 1, 2011.

Authorized Exchange shoppers who receive the new ID will notice some changes when writing a check, putting something on layaway or making a return at an Army & Air Force Exchange Service facility. The absence of the Social Security number, the only number used by DoD for financial transactions to recover lost funds, means that cashiers will scan the new

"We've spent a great deal of time upgrading our systems to recognize the new IDs and provide these services without interruption," said the Exchange's Senior Enlisted Advisor Chief Master Sgt. Jeffry Helm. "The scanning process not only is more convenient, but also helps protect service members' personal data. So whether the ID is old or new, authorized shoppers have the proper 'security clearance' to exercise their Exchange benefit and shop with peace of mind."

While not a new process, scanning for the DoD ID number to complete select transactions assists in guarding the investment authorized shoppers make in their communities. A military command with a retail mission, two-thirds of Exchange earnings are paid to Morale, Welfare and Recreation programs.

Procedures that protect assets helped the Exchange to contribute more than $2.4 billion to quality-of-life improvements over the past decade in support of youth services, armed forces recreation centers, arts and crafts, aquatic centers, golf courses and more.

Local golfers to compete for bragging rights

By Douglas DeMaio,
USAG Bamberg Public Affairs

BAMBERG, Germany -- While Bamberg's German-American Ryder Cup does not have the prestige and media attention as the original Ryder Cup, the competition is no less meaningful.

Last year, the American team won the event by 107 strokes and two years ago the American team edged past the German team to win by one stroke.

"For the last couple years, we've taken it; we've only lost two... out of the eight years we've been playing," said Daniel Brown, the golf manager at Whispering Pines Golf Course.

Historically, the winning team's averaged margin of victory has been 10 strokes, but this year is looking to be more difficult for the American team to win, Brown said.

"Hopefully we will win this year because most of our good players are either on vacation or they left, so it's going to be pretty rough this year," he said. "They plan on beating us this year by a large margin."

The German team is made of club members from the Hauptsmoorwald Golf Club. The club has a co-use agreement with the Army and its members can use the course regularly.

Brown and his counterpart, Klaus Dirks, will work out the competition details and the of players to compete.

Ten player's scores per team made up last year's event.

"We will see how many players play this year," said Klaus Beier, the sports officer for the Hauptsmoorwald Golf Club. "I think we have a good chance."

Regardless of the winner, Beier said, the event should be enjoyable.

"I think it's fun," he said. "We barbecue and get a chance to speak with our American friends; it's great."

Brown said the competition is a small example of the great relationships Germans and Americans share on the golf course.

"It's always German-American friendship week at the golf club," Brown said.

Still, Beier said he hopes the German teams are victorious.

"The best team will win," Beier said.

This year's competition will be played in three, six-hole events that will combine for an 18-hole tournament.

The competitors will play six holes each in match play, best ball play and individual play.

Douglas DeMaio
The German-American Ryder Cup trophy is presented to the winner of the tournament each year. Of the eight competitions, the American team has won six.

Command sergeant major and I had the honor of recognizing some of our great volunteers at a annual volunteer recognition ceremony. What a great group of outstanding individuals and what an amazing wealth of knowledge and dedication. Talking to the volunteers was truly a pleasure and I am certain that many of them will continue be a part of this prestigious ceremony in the years to come.

Fourth of July is a time of social activities and celebrations with Family and friends, but it is not without an increased risk of accidents. I ask your help in ensuring a safe holiday while you're having fun.

Accidents seriously degrade Army readiness. Protecting the force extends beyond military operations and must be a part of everything we do, on- and off-duty.

We cannot afford losses, especially those due to carelessness. Maintain an awareness of the potential hazards around you.

A number of risky activities associated with this holiday consist of neglecting firework safety precautions, swimming or boating irresponsibly, driving between midnight and early morning hours, failing to wear seat belts, speeding, and driving while under the influence.

In match play, two player teams will try and best their opponent to earn a point for their team.

In best ball play, a two-person team can select the team's best shot to try and earn the lowest score. A tied hole is a scratch and the team that scores lower will earn a point for their team.

Individual play is the lowest score by an individual during a round and points will be given to the team based on the overall team's accumulated average.

Leaders and first-line supervisors can make a difference this holiday weekend. When you practice safety and teach others about safety, you are saving lives. Impress upon Soldiers, civilians, and Family members that accidents don't take a holiday. Talk to your employees and ensure they incorporate risk management into their plans, on- and off-duty. If you are planning on highway travel during this extended holiday weekend, review the POV toolbox on the U.S. Army Combat Readiness/

Safety Center's webpage at <https://crc.army.mil/Tools/>.

Again, let me just say 'thank you' for all you do every day. On behalf of Johanna and I, command Sgt. Maj. Ocanas and his wife Clara, and the entire command leadership team, I wish you a safe and enjoyable weekend.

Eco-Friendly Tips

Energy-saving Tips

1. Open fridge quickly to avoid letting cool air out.
2. Daytime reading and working areas should be located where window light is sufficient on all but the darkest, overcast days. This should include the chair with the magazine rack, the play table for the children, the workbench or the sewing machine. Light also means heat, so you'll be warmer as you work or play in this area.

Water-saving Tips

1. Teach your children to turn off faucets tightly after each use.
2. When cleaning out fish tanks, give the nutrient-rich (nitrogen and phosphorous) water to your plants.

Recycling Tips

1. Before buying anything new, ask yourself if you really need it.
2. Teach kids about the environment.

Please call us and tell us when you sell your item so we can remove the advertisement. Thank you.
